

Tech-as-a-Service

In today's world why pay for outdated technology?

Tech-as-a-Service allows you to keep your technology completely up-to-date. Source the right technology today, at the lowest price, and remain adaptable and agile for the changes coming tomorrow.

What is Tech-as-a-Service?

Tech-as-a-Service makes it simple, quick and easy to acquire hardware, software and services through monthly payments rather than a traditional one-off purchase. This enables organisations to optimise their IT budget, while getting access to the latest technologies on a regular basis.

Tech-as-a-Service offers the choice to combine hardware and software into a solution that not only meets each organisation's technology needs, but also satisfies budget requirements.

Why Tech as a Service?

Tech-as-a-Service helps any commercial or public sector organisation to maximise IT budgets. Moving the cost of IT from capital expenditure to an operating expense, with all products and services rolled into one affordable bill, removes the need for large upfront payments. A simple, low-cost, Tech-as-a-Service plan also makes budgeting easier to manage.

As your organisation grows you can add more products and services to meet your demands, with Tech-as-a-Service providing access to the latest technology at the click of a button.

Through Tech-as-a-Service, CT will have a deeper understanding of your organisation's IT lifecycle and technology roadmap.

Speak to a specialist today to discuss how Tech-as-a-Service can help your organisation get the most out of your technology roadmap.
